Lively Found Guilty, Sentenced To Die October 27

SLAYER IMPASSIVE AS FATE IS SEALED BY QUICK VERDICT

Jury Takes Less Than Hour To Determine Guilt of Atlantan Who Killed Wife and Mother-in-Law Here Last July.

DEFENSE COUNSEL TO ASK NEW TRIAL

5-Year-Old Girl Describes Fatal Cutting; Lawyers for Lively Claim Defendant Insane.

His head hung low because of the neck injury he wrought upon himself after killing his wife, Mrs. Rose May Lively, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Retha Kell, Lively Tuesday stood before the bar in Judge C. C. Pittman's special division of Fulton superior court to hear a sentence of death in the electric chair at Milledgeville October 27 for the murder of Mrs. Kell. Defense counsel said that a new trial will be sought.

Lively, giving the appearance of a broken, hopeless man, had nothing to say as Judge Pittman went through the formality of pronouncing sentence. With no change in the set expression of his face, Lively turned back to his chair at the conclusion of the sentence reading and sat down, showing no interest in the proceedings.

His face heavy with untimely whiskers, Lively remained an unmoving figure in his chair all during the hours of the day's trial. He did not even take the witness stand in his own defense, but was a passive listener to all that went on about him.

Defense Claimed Insanity.

The defense, conducted by attorneys appointed by the court, based its sole hope on an insanity plea, arguing that Lively was insane at the time of the commission of the crime. The testimony of Dr. J. C. Black, county physician who has been examining Lively in Fulton tower, that Lively is sane.

One of the principal witnesses for the state was Lucille Barrett, 5, niece and granddaughter of the murdered women, who related how she

Long Foe Is Appointed To New Orleans Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Appointment of Daniel D. Moore, as collector of internal revenue at New Orleans was announced by President Roosevelt today, despite opposition by Senator Long, democrat of Louisiana.

The nomination of Moore, former newspaper publisher, was recommended to the president by leaders of the anti-Long faction in Louisiana.

He was accompanied for a preliminary conference with Postmaster-General Farley by Edward Rignier, who was attorney for the anti-Long faction at the Chicago convention last year, and John Sullivan, leader of anti-Long forces in New Orleans.

Magazine's Nazi Picture Brings Editor Rebuke

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The picture of a Nazi stormtrooper in black uniform together with a stylized lady garbed in the latest autumn model printed on the front page of the German fashion magazine "Elegant World" brought the editor a stern rebuke from Dr. Joseph Goebbels, propaganda minister.

"I must point out," the minister said, "that not only such a juxtaposition, but publications of this kind in general in a fashion paper constitute an offense against the holy solemnity and historic dignity of a uniform which tens of thousands of severely wounded and 300 dead Germans have worn in the cause of national reconstruction."

Dr. Goebbels announced that he would take suitable measures against cases of this kind in the future.

GEORGIA CARRIES WORKS FUND PLEA TO CAPITAL TODAY

State Leaders Confident Legal Barriers Barring Federal Loans Will Be Surmounted.

Georgia today will attempt to surmount the legal barriers surrounding its share of the public works fund, with members of the state advisory commission confident that the effort will prove successful.

The attempt will be made at a Washington conference between legal representatives of the public works administration and attorneys representing the state commission, Marion Smith, John A. Sibley and Robert Parker, of Atlanta, and Benjamin E. Pierce, of Augusta.

Ryburn G. Clay, president of the Fulton National bank and one of the three members of the advisory commission, said Tuesday night that the board was confident that today's conference would prove successful.

The attorneys are making the attempt to unwind the legal tangle about the Georgia situation in an effort to avoid the proposed conference between Georgia leaders and President Roosevelt who is authorized under the recovery act which provides the funds for public works to waive any and all limitations if he so desires.

The legal group left Atlanta Tuesday and are scheduled to arrive in Washington shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. The jury set for the conference with advisors of Secretary Ickes, the public works administrator. The group took with them a brief covering the entire Georgia situation and a copy of the constitution of the state which places a limit on the borrowing power of the commonwealth and its counties and municipalities, the barrier to Georgia's obtaining its share of the huge public works fund. The brief was drawn by the four

Navy To Be Built Up, U. S. Advises Britain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The United States has told the British government that it cannot postpone any part of the naval building program now underway as was suggested last week by British officials in London.

The American statement, understood to have been accepted by the British as final, followed presentation of the views and suggestions with Norman H. Davis, chief of the American delegation to the arms conference, that the British felt that carrying out the whole $235,000,000 naval construction program might have a bad effect on moves to limit armaments.

The source through which the American position was made known in reply was not disclosed at the state department.

New Attack on Sale of Beer Opened by Group of Citizens

New tests of the sale of 3.2 per cent beer in Atlanta under city license in alleged violation of the state-banned dry act were filed Tuesday in Fulton superior court by Solicitor General John O. Boykin at the request of a delegation of citizens.

The complaints were filed in the form of bills of injunction by the solicitor-general and by a number of citizens who seek to have superior court judge alleged public nuisances. Judge G. H. Howard set the cases for October 7.

The petitions are directed against the Pig's Whistle, of which Harold T. Hagan is president and manager, at 293 Ponce de Leon avenue, and the store of W. F. Cooke, at 328 Whitehall.

The petitions claim that the two places constitute blind tigers through the sale of beer of more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content.

The complaining citizens are W. Salem Brown, Mrs. James H. Bachman, W. D. Whitley Jr., J. W. Veal, Dr. R. R. Stoker, Robert E. Mell, Dr. M. F. Finch, W. L. Ross, Mrs. W. L. Ross, Mrs. T. A. Ross, Mrs.

APPROVALS NEAR FOR RETAIL CODE, OFFICIALS HINT

Johnson Signs Nine Agreements From Bed in Hospital, Sees Six More Before Thursday.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Approval of an NRA code for retailers and druggists, with their provisions against extreme price cutting, was indicated today by officials.

Although Hugh S. Johnson, the administrator, has been confined for almost a week with an infection that necessitated a slight operation, it was said both he and President Roosevelt have been informed fully about the proposed codes.

In his room at Walter Reed hospital, the administrator today signed for presentation to President Roosevelt nine codes of competition and announced he expected to approve at least six more before he returns to his desk, probably on Thursday.

Codes approved today were for the time, building supplies, optical machinery, textile machinery manufacturing, electric battery manufacturers, advertising specialties, women's belt manufacturing, and the knitting, braiding and wire covering machinery manufacturing industries.

After a general conference with his principal staff members that lasted until late last night, Johnson called others of his aides for talks today.

Meanwhile, despite the vehement protests in some sections to the provisions against price regulations contained in the retail charters, the administration announced less than one-half of 1 per cent of the expressions received voiced opposition.

Hundreds of letters and telegrams have reached the administration since it made the code public last week. Most of them endorsed the price provisions. This section of the master retail code would prohibit sales below a price representing whole cost plus 10 per cent. In the drug code the provision bars sales of trademarked goods on which the manufacturer fixes price at a discount of more than 21 per cent.

Whether President Roosevelt and the administrator will approve these articles as written officials would not attempt to say, but it was indicated strongly the administration believed some such plan on price-cutting would be approved.

Works on Coal.

In Johnson's absence, Kenneth M. Simpson, a deputy administrator, was asserting that codes controlling over the soft coal code by bringing the Alabama and Kentucky operators into the fold. Both groups declined to sign the charter promulgated 10 days ago by Mr. Roosevelt.

Simpson predicted an early agreement on wages and hours which would permit issuance by the president of an executive order incorporating their basic scales into the general code.

Officials also expressed surprise that a code for the anthracite coal industry had not been received yet. It was expected some time ago. However, conferences were understood to be proceeding looking toward an agreement between miners and operators before the charter is presented.

In an effort to clear up some reported misunderstandings of the scope of codes after they are made effective, Frank S. Pollak, assistant counsel of the NRA, issued a formal interpretation, asserting that each employer in the trade or industry on the effective date stated in the code, regardless of whether or not the particular employer was named in the code, would be bound by its provisions. He called the Blue Eagle, Pollak said, an employer must sign a certificate of compliance with his postoffice, asserting he has fulfilled the code.

World Stabilize Prices.

Johnson, in opening the retail code hearing August 22, gave notice the administration would attempt to end different lines recently when a private citizen filed a petition in court asking for an injunction against beer distributors. When the case came before Judge John D. Humphries to be heard, he held that the petition was filed in the wrong form in that it was multifarious in nature by joining in one suit different defendants operating differently and in no way connected with each other.

Although holding that it did not appear that the plaintiff in the former case had suffered any personal injury, Judge Humphries threw out the case on a point of practice, ruling that such a petition should be brought by the solicitor-general as an injunction to abate a public nuisance.

Defendants in the new test cases are retailers.

HUNGER, DISEASE ROAD WORK LISTED FOR 122 COUNTIES

By CLARK LEE.

(Copyright, 1933, by The Associated Press.)

TAMPICO, Mexico, Sept. 26.—The known death toll from last Sunday's hurricane which buffeted this oil port for several hours was placed officially tonight at 64, with 850 known injured and much of the city laid waste.

It was feared, however, that many more bodies were buried in the debris of collapsed houses or had not been recovered from the water which swirled in from overflowing rivers to cover the low-lying sections.

This correspondent, arriving from Mexico, D. F., by airplane, the first to reach Tampico since the storm, found the city suffering from heavy property damage but without the high death toll at first feared.

Officials of the city did not attempt to estimate the total number of injured, but the figure unofficially was placed at thousands, many of them receiving treatment in their homes.

TO CONVICTS FIGHT FROM INDIANA PEN

Clerk Shot, Turnkey and Superintendent Slugged as Long-Term Prisoners Flee From Prison.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Ten convicts fought their way to freedom from the Indiana State prison today.

They kidnapped two men, one of them a sheriff, and wounded three persons in carrying out their escape plot.

Warnings were sent out to all cities in northern Indiana and Illinois. Squads of police guarded every highway in an effort to recapture the convicts, who fled in commandeered automobiles.

Scores of city firemen and volunteer American Legion men were stationed about the prison tonight after officials expressed fear that the success of the break might lead to a riot.

Seven Carry Guns.

Seven of the 11 convicts carried guns, which had been smuggled into the prison. All were long-term prisoners.

The men injured were S. C. Carson, a prison clerk who was shot; Turnkey Fred Walz and Lawrence Mutch, superintendent of industries. Walz and Mutch were slugged and Mutch was locked in a prison vault.

The break started in the prison shirt manufacturing shop, where all 11 convicts were employed.

During a dull, rainy afternoon, convict Walter Dietrich, a life-term bank robber, approached G. H. Stevens, an attendant of the shop, and told him that there was a man down stairs who wished to buy some shirts.

Draws Revolver.

As Stevens descended the stairway, Dietrich drew a revolver and forced Stevens into a corner. The other convicts in the carefully laid plot produced clubs and guns from hiding places. They surrounded D. Triplett, a foreman. Triplett was bound.

Covering their revolvers with piles of sheets the convicts marched toward the factory. They overpowered Mutch, slugged him, took his keys and locked him in a cell.

Before leaving the prison the convicts went to Warden Louis Kunkel's office. Officials believed later that the plot had been to kidnap Kunkel and the Chester without was disturbed as a spontaneous movement, affecting 4,000 to 5,000 men, dissatisfied with wages. Ford officials in Detroit denied the rumor.

15-Year-Old Girl Held As Writer of Threats

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Willie Mae Wheelas, a 15-year-old girl, was charged with mailing extortion letters to prominent Carolinians by federal officers today who said she confessed and told them she had hoped to obtain money to pay college expenses.

One of the extortion demands was directed to a woman now dead, the laundress Mrs. E. A. Judd, of Spartanburg, S. C. The letter demanded $8,000 and contained a threat she would be kidnapped and $250,000 ransom demanded if the money were not paid. John A. Law Sr., president of the Saxon Mills and administrator of the Judd estate, turned the letter over to federal officers.

Another extortion letter was received by Mrs. C. F. Harris, of Wadesboro, wife of a prominent physician.

STRIKE IS CALLED BY SKILLED HANDS IN DETROIT PLANTS

Several Thousand Walk Out of Ford Factory in Pennsylvania as Labor Troubles Spread.

By the Associated Press.

Strikes continued to cloud the country's view of NRA's economic rainbow yesterday.

Skilled automobile workers called a strike in Detroit; several thousand men walked out of a Ford Motor Company plant at Chester, Pa. Bakery wagon drivers rioted in Philadelphia. There was a threat of military intervention for striking truckmen in Connecticut. Coal miners massed at Clairton, Pa. A national strike of airplane pilots was averted.

The Detroit strike call climaxed balloting begun Saturday and leaders said 30,000 men would be affected. It was called to support striking workers at Flint, Mich., to win recognition of the union, to force NRA conformity on employers, and a wage scale of $1 to $1.50 an hour for a 30-hour week.

At Flint, General Motors Corporation executives said the strike was over, because any recalcitrant employee was henceforth off the pay roll.

The Chester walkout was disturbed as a spontaneous movement, affecting 4,000 to 5,000 men, dissatisfied with wages. Ford officials in Detroit denied the rumor.

Exchange Tax Bills Vetoed by O'Brien

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Mayor John P. O'Brien tonight vetoed the two proposed tax bills that had led the New York Stock Exchange to threaten to move to Newark, N. J.

By his veto, the mayor virtually eliminated the prospect that the Wall Street financial district would be shifted across the river to escape added taxation.

Richard Whitney, president of the stock exchange, told the mayor earlier in the day that the market would abandon its plans to move if the tax measures were vetoed.

The mayor said his action was not to be construed "as a change of mind with respect to the original necessity of enacting the bills, but was taken because of a seriously threatened adequate return upon the state stock exchange tax."

The measures had been designed to raise between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 for unemployment and home relief.

Weaver, Nevada Ex-Robber, Identified in House Shooting

Robert Weaver, alias Bobby Hunt, an alert, suave man of 34, a paroled bank robber from Nevada, whose extradition to that state was sought here several days ago, Tuesday was identified as one of two men who tried to rifle a safe in the home of Glenn House, at 1250 Boulevard, N. E., and shot him three times when he surprised them in the act.

At the police station, where Weaver is held incommunicado, neighbors of House looked at the man and told Chief of Police T. O. Sturdivant that he and Ridley Justice, the other man held in connection with the attack, were the men who forced the rear door of House's residence shortly before the shooting occurred.

Chief Sturdivant announced Tuesday night that he would take Weaver before the grand jury Friday and ask for indictments charging him with burglary, assault with intent to murder and carrying a weapon without a license.

Chief Sturdivant said that Weaver is "a nationally known safe cracker," and that he was investigating the recent robbery of a bank at Hampton, Ga., and the theft of $2,200 from Montague Brothers, in Atlanta, in an effort to learn whether Weaver was implicated.

TESTIMONY BARES SALE OF VESSELS AT LOSS TO U. S.

Eighteen Ships, Costing $1,825,718 To Repair, Disposed of For $1,071,431, Solons Hear in Capital Probe.

Cabinet Member Approved Loan Extension Despite Bad Finances, Group Is Told.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Testimony that the shipping board spent $1,825,718 in repairing 18 ships that were sold to the Export Steamship Corporation for $1,071,431 and that a Hoover cabinet member approved a loan extension to the company when its liabilities were $3,952,000 and assets $1,172,100 was received today by a senate investigating committee.

Henry Herberman, of New York, president of the company, told the committee the board had agreed to put the ships in first-class condition for sale. He denied an earlier statement by Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, that Herberman had paid a $310 tailor bill for T. V. O'Connor, a former chairman of the shipping board.

Coming into the committee room late in the day to testify in the new opened inquiry into ocean mail contracts and shipping board operations, Herberman said in reply to questions that he had arranged for Mrs. Mini G. Irvine, secretary to O'Connor, to buy some property for him during the Florida land boom.

Herberman was accompanied by a physician who sat with him at the witness table and frequently felt his pulse.

Sent Cattle.

Under questioning, Herberman said he had sent a shipment of cattle to R. D. Pattina in California, and that Pattina was the father-in-law of R. D. Gatwood, a naval commander assigned to the shipping board in charge of construction and repair of ships.

Black asked if Gatwood was not the first to have to approve the repair of the ships he bought, but Herberman said that was untrue.

The witness also said he advanced between $15,000 and $16,000 to the Pattina ranch in California to prevent foreclosure of a mortgage on a bank because he thought it was a "good investment."

Explaining his purchase of the cattle in 1924, Herberman said his ships operated to Greece and at the time threatened nonstriking drivers. The union demands closed shop, a 42-hour week and a wage increase. It claims 1,250 of the city's 1,500 drivers are out; employers said 600.

At Clairton, a group of 400 soft coal miners from adjacent Fayette county paraded and encamped around the Carnegie Steel Company plant in an attempt to persuade steel workers to join their strike. The plant employs 6,000. The marchers were not molested, though guarded throughout, by the police.

The Connecticut trucking strike has paralyzed movement of products, manufacturers told Dr. Edward G. Dolan, state NRA chairman, and he threatened to ask for militia to guard trucks.

The airplane pilots' strike threat was quieted in Washington, with an nouncement that a proposed wage scale would not be imposed, emanating from a conference of airline presidents.

ALL TOOL AND DIE MAKERS CALLED OUT IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Sept. 26.—(P)—Spokesmen for a committee of the Mechanical Engineers' Society tonight claimed that between 5,000 and 6,000 Detroit tool and die makers, most of them employed in automobile plants, had answered a strike call sent out at noon today, and that another 5,000 would join the walkout tomorrow.

The strike, the committee said, had a dual purpose. It was, first of all, a "sympathy strike" in support of striking members of the society in Flint (Mich.) auto plants who walked out claiming employers there are not conforming to the wage and hour agreements of the NRA auto code. Also, they said, it was a demand for recognition of the society by shop owners.

Officials of the local auto plants maintained silence, saying they had no knowledge of any walkouts. In Flint, where an undetermined number of tool and die makers employed by the Buick, Chevrolet and A. O. Spark Plug Company plants walked out last week, executives of the company said they regarded the walkout as "over." Employees who did not return today, they said, would be considered "off the pay roll." They said only a small percentage of the total number of tool and die makers joined the walkout, although spokesmen for the strikers said their "forces were holding."

Meanwhile, Jay J. Griffin, chairman of the Detroit strike committee, said he had been advised in a telegram from Senator Robert F. Wagner, NRA labor chairman, that John P. Carmody, his assistant, is en route to Flint and Detroit to negotiate with employers and employees in an effort to settle their difficulties.

Griffin also said that in 18 shops which he had canvassed since noon today, he found between 5,000 and 6,000 workers had answered the strike call. He said he expected the full force of the walkout to be felt tomorrow.

DISSATISFIED WITH PAY. FORD EMPLOYEES QUIT

CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 26.—(P)—Several thousand men employed at the Ford Motor Company plant here walked out today, declaring they were dissatisfied with their wages.

Workers said it was not a unionized movement but was the spontaneous action of the employees. They estimated 4,000 to 5,000 men left their places.

The walk-out was orderly and hundreds of the men remained in the vicinity of the plant. They said their working time was reduced last Friday from five to four days with a minimum wage rate of fifty cents an hour for an eight-hour day, or $2 a week. Some of the men asserted this was not a living wage.

They declared they want a five-day week at five dollars a day. One representative from each of the departments will form a committee to confer with company officials, leaders among the men said.

Company officials declined to discuss the walk-out, pending word from the Detroit office of the company. It was said 200 to 300 men remained at work.

1,200 WORKERS RETURN TO MILLS AT NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—(P)—More than 1,200 workers returned to their posts in the Lane Cotton mills today following strike disturbances of yesterday which were climaxed with the shooting of Prince Berthelot, 21.

Berthelot was still in a serious condition today.

The mill attempted to re-open yesterday after a shutdown of three weeks resulting from a workers' walk-out on charges of national textile code violations. Only a handful actually worked yesterday, however, as hundreds of demonstrators milled about the plant, engaging in fist fights and hurling bricks at workers and police.

STRIKING WORKERS RUSH SWIFT PLANT IN CANADA

STRATFORD, Ont., Sept. 26.—(P)—Three hundred strikers rushed the plant of the Swift Canadian Company this afternoon and attempted to drag out workers who had refused to join them.

Tear gas was used to disperse the crowd. Police and spectators were showered with rocks, and three arrests were made.

The strike movement started last Thursday when employees asked the company to inaugurate a three-cent rate for chicken plucking.

RIOT GUNS PREVENT MINE STRIKE TROUBLE

CLAIRTON, Pa., Sept. 26.—(P)—A veritable army of police stood guard with tear gas and riot guns today while 600 Fayette county coal miners marched into this town to try to induce the 6,000 workers in the mammoth Carnegie steel plant to walk out in a sympathy strike. There was no disorder.

The strikers paraded through the streets with police escorts, started home and then returned to encamp for several hours a block from the plant's entrance.

Late in the day they turned homeward again, afoot and by truck. Fifty or so were stranded.

BOOKKEEPER ENDS LIFE AT HOME IN FLORIDA

DAYTONA BEACH, Sept. 26.—(P)—J. W. Corbett, an unemployed bookkeeper, was found dead in his home here last night. A pistol lay beside the body. Officials pronounced the case suicide, said an inquest would be unnecessary. They estimated that death had occurred several days before discovery of the body.

by a physician and two trained nurses. Weaver and Miss Duke were freed on bonds of $100 and were to have appeared at Milledgeville on October 5.

Weaver and his attorneys were at Milledgeville when Nevada authorities arrived here about a month ago with papers seeking Weaver's return to the state prison there.

Hugh Howell, Atlanta attorney and chairman of the state democratic executive committee, appeared as Weaver's attorney at an extradition hearing before Governor Talmadge.

Governor Eugene Talmadge assessed a bond of $1,000 against Weaver pending his decision on the request from Nevada and announced he would make his decision public in 30 days.

The governor's decision is scheduled to be made known Thursday, but Chief Sturdivant said Tuesday night that he did not intend to deliver Weaver to Nevada.

Weaver's connection with the shooting of House was established through the finding of a coat in a coupe which House's assailants used in fleeing from the scene. Traced first to a West Peachtree street address, he was located in an apartment on Piedmont avenue a few hours later. The detectives said two women were in the place and that Weaver was in a bathroom partly clothed. He had a .33-80 caliber automatic pistol on his person, they said.

House was shot three times, in the chest and in the leg, by the two men who ran from his residence. He was taken to Georgia Baptist hospital. Late Tuesday night his condition was said to be "still serious."

Cooler weather today, with the possibility of thundershowers Thursday, was forecast Tuesday by the weather bureau. Today's range of temperature is expected to be between 65 and 85 degrees, compared with 70 to 80 on Tuesday.

Indications were that the weather would be cooler for the next two or three days.

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

By H. A. CARTER

PURPLE MARTINS

The annual fall congress of purple martins is convening in Atlanta. Last night I saw them in great numbers, flying in the neighborhood of the capitol. In ragged flocks they coursed here and there, sharp wings beating the air frantically as if struggling for support in an intangible medium, then startlingly soaring for several yards. Through the cooling air their faint peeps and peents drifted down to earth, as if urging mere mortal humans to come and share the last auroral tints in the clear blue. As I watched, the several flocks began to coalesce, and slowly there formed a magnificent procession of martins, circling between the capitol and the courthouse, whirling dizzily like dying leaves caught in an autumnal eddy with such mechanical swiftness that all directions to join the jolly game. The cone assumed a form almost geometric as the myriad atoms of flesh and feathers drew closer together.

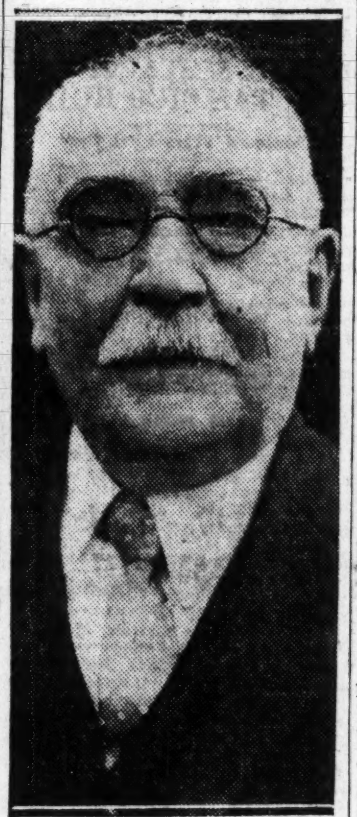

Then began the disintegration of the flight as dozens of the birds left the driving mass at perfect tangents. I gasped at the simile—living sparks, these, thrown from an infinite blade they left the rapidly-thinning mass, until the last stragglers gave up the circling chase of their fellows.

For many years the purple martins have congregated in Atlanta prior to their migration to Brazil. I understand that efforts to disperse them by various means such as strong streams of water failed absolutely. It must be expected. Whatever force, or forces united throw out avifauna into that high state of nervous excitement are older than mankind, and his puny efforts to cope with such momentous manifestation of primitive forces are foredoomed to failure. Can you master a gale, or stop the ebb and flow of tides? Then you cannot cope with a force more mighty than your mind. You might as well try to kick aside a mine stump as to try—literally, in this case—with windmills.

We have only a few days in the year to give to these birds. Have we become so utterly egocentric as a race that we cannot endure the merry chatter of martins? They are most efficient predators upon insects. Condemn the martins and their kin, and doom yourself and the rest of mankind to centuries of battle with insects—a losing battle, that can end only in disaster to humanity.

JOHN C. HALLMAN HONORED BY BOARD ON 90TH BIRTHDAY

Congratulations on his nineteenth birthday anniversary were extended to John C. Hallman, 499 West Peachtree street, N. E., senior member of the board of directors, in a formal resolution.

JOHN C. HALLMAN.

lution by the board of the Georgia Power Company in regular session Tuesday. Mr. Hallman was present at the meeting and appeared to be in good health on his anniversary.

Mr. Hallman, it was set out in the resolution, has for 35 years been a leading organizer, businessman and financier of Atlanta. Following four years of service in the Confederacy during the Civil War, he came to Atlanta to enter business. The resolution also commended him for "38 years of faithful service toward building a small Atlanta business into Georgia's greatest industry."

Mr. Hallman was vice president and later president of the Georgia Railway & Electric Company and has for many years been a director in the Georgia Power and predecessor companies. The adopted resolution set out that Mr. Hallman "has by the example of his life established a monument of kindly living, friendliness toward men and personal integrity which will endure in memory after the concrete works of his life have passed into oblivion."

Officer Lee Cleared In Death of Johnson

Patrolman C. V. Lee Tuesday afternoon was exonerated by the Fulton county grand jury after an investigation of a murder charge growing out of the killing of Oscar Johnson, night watchman, who was shot by Lee at Johnson's home on Bryan street on August 30. The grand jury returned a no bill in the case.

Officer Lee was held to the grand jury by Judge Luther Z. Ross, in a preliminary hearing on a warrant sworn out by Johnson's widow. Lee claimed that he shot Johnson in self-defense when the latter advanced on him with a gun.

Talmadge Is Given Bale To Start Campaign Fund

Governor Eugene Talmadge Tuesday received the first contribution to his 1934 campaign fund, a bale of cotton from Dr. H. G. Huey, of Homerville, long one of the chief executive's closest friends.

"It may be said I'll need a big campaign fund next year and will be able to use all I can get," he said. "I guess I'd better hold this cotton until I can get a better price than I could right now."

PHONE VALUATIONS NEARED BY BOARD

Mass of Technical Testimony Waded Through at Hearing on Rates.

The Georgia public service commission waded through a mass of technical testimony Tuesday as its investigation of rates charged by the Southern Bell Telephone Company in Georgia approached the controversial question of valuations.

Apparently in preparation for an attack on the company's valuation of its properties, Assistant Attorney-General John Goree began an item-by-item discussion of the company's valuations sheet. He had not completed the itemization of Walter Duncan, one of the Southern Bell's accountants, when the hearing was adjourned until today.

E. W. Maynard, representing the city of Macon at the hearing on the commission's order requiring the company to show why its rates should not be lowered, asked Duncan if the company "makes any contributions to political campaigns."

Duncan replied that there were none, in so far as he knew. Maynard said he expected to pursue this line of questioning when examination of Thomas Barton Baird, Georgia manager of the company, is resumed.

The commission Tuesday visited one of the larger telephone exchanges in Atlanta and heard telephone experts discuss the workings of the intricate machinery.

Chairman Jud Wilhoit said the commission found the visit helpful, but that he was somewhat in the position of the youngster who first saw a giraffe and commented: "There ain't no such animal."

State Kiwanis Plans Big Convention Here

The forthcoming convention of the Georgia Kiwanis Clubs, which will be held here October 19 to 21, will be the largest state convention ever held by the organization. Assistant Attorney-General John M. Peckham, district governor for Georgia, announced Tuesday.

Mr. Parker, whose home is in Waycross, said that 18 clubs in the state had pledged that they would be here 100 per cent for the session. These clubs are at Brunswick, Cedartown, Lawrenceville, Jesup, Marietta, Jacksonville, Columbus, Savannah, Jacksonville, Louisville, Hogansville, Waycross, Rome, Monroe, Madison, Americus, Atlanta and Commerce.

The convention sessions will be at the Ansley hotel. Governor Eugene Talmadge, Mayor James L. Key and Joshua L. Johns, of Appleton, Wis., president of Kiwanis International, will be among the speakers.

ECKFORD WILL OPEN ADVERTISING AGENCY

George A. Eckford, advertising man and Fulton county legislator, announced on Tuesday that papers had been taken out for the incorporation of the George A. Eckford Advertising Agency. Names of the incorporators would be announced shortly, he said, and quarters for the agency would be on the ground floor of the Healey building.

In addition to representing Fulton county in the legislature, Mr. Eckford is a member of the state democratic executive committee.

NEGRO GIVEN DEATH IN ROBBERY SLAYING

Death in the electric chair at Millidgeville on November 17 was ordered Tuesday for Floyd South, negro, by Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, following the return of a jury verdict finding South guilty of the murder of Bennie Gaddin, Deatur street merchant, in an attempt holdup of the Gaddin store on May 18.

South's trial was held Monday and a verdict was reached late Monday night, but was sealed and returned Tuesday morning.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 26.—(P)—Mrs. Richard Dix, the former Winifred Cox, of San Francisco, was granted a Mexican divorce in Juarez, Chihuahua, courts June 29, by agreement between herself and the actor, her attorney announced today.

The divorce ended a romance which began with a childhood friendship. They were married in Yuma, Ariz., October 20, 1931, and separated May 24, 1933.

'Homecoming Day' at Atlanta Fair Will Bring Old Friends Together

Thursday, October 5, will be homecoming day at the Southeastern Fair. Handshaking, back-slapping and "do you remember" will be in order, for Lakewood park will be the meeting place where thousands who have become strangers over the years will renew friendships.

Steps are being taken by Southeastern Fair executives to make the day a tremendous success. Former Atlantans will return home for the day; former Georgians from other states will be present and as an added feature the "country boys" who have moved to Atlanta will be visited by their home town folks. The thousands of Atlantans who came from other Georgia towns and cities are to join in efforts to swell attendance. Mike Benton, new president of the Southeastern Fair, has appealed to every citizen who is a native of some other Georgia town to write to friends and relatives "back home" and urge them to "meet me at the fair." Civic bodies in other communities who have lists of their "home-town boys" now living in the city are being asked to appoint delegations to meet them at the fair on homecoming day.

Atlanta civic clubs have been asked to co-operate and they are active in contacting citizens and civic clubs in other cities. Mr. Benton said.

While efforts were being made by Southeastern Fair executives to arrange a full program of entertainment for every day of the fair, including Homecoming Day, the list of agricultural and livestock exhibits Tuesday continued to swell.

Twenty-one Georgia counties will have agricultural exhibits in the agricultural building, according to the list of entries submitted by S. D. Truitt, Fulton county agent, who is in charge of the agricultural show at the fair.

Of the 21 counties, 16 will be represented by exhibits and demonstrations staged by their respective 4-H Boys' Club, and the four boys who will attend the fair from each of the counties have won that right in county-wide competition.

Boys From 16 Counties.

The 16 counties represented by the 4-H Boys' Club, the county agents and the demonstrations and exhibits each county will sponsor are as follows:

National Labor Board Averts Fliers' Strike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(P)—The National Labor Board announced today a threatened strike of airplane pilots had been averted at a conference with representatives of the fliers and the employers.

The strike had been threatened in protest against a wage scale which was to have been effective October 1. Senator Wagner, chairman of the board, requested imposition of the scale be postponed pending consideration of all matters in dispute and after some discussion President Thomas B. Doe, of the Eastern Air Transport, who also represented President E. P. Breech, of North American Aviation agreed to disturb present pay and other conditions.

Wagner said the board would take immediate steps to obtain similar postponement of the scale by other airlines affected.

Geologists To Study Warm Springs Water

Why is Warm Springs? The answer to this question will be sought in the near future by geologists who plan to make a survey of the spa and of the underground streams which produce such warm and invigorating water.

Dr. S. W. McCallie, state geologist, said Tuesday that the work on a geological survey will be started soon. Funds will be provided by the national government under the terms of the national recovery act.

Dr. McCallie would not say how long he thought it would take to complete the survey.

A special exhibit by the Fulton County 4-H Boys' Club will feature cotton, peanuts and potatoes, according to Mr. Truitt.

The handsome plaque trophy awarded to the Fulton Gazette for outstanding work in restoring confidence to the community it serves will be presented here on October 7, Georgia press day at the fair, it was announced Tuesday by Hal Stanley, executive secretary of the Georgia Press Association.

The trophy was awarded to the Gazette by the Georgia Bankers' Association and will be offered again next year, Mr. Stanley said.

Tickets to the horse show, which will be one of the features of the fair, will go on sale this morning at Davison-Paxon Company.

Midway Shows Arrive.

Thirty-six steel railroad cars, brilliantly painted, were shuffled onto the Lakewood siding Tuesday afternoon, heralding the arrival of the Royal American Shows, the "world's largest midway," with their 15 shows and 12 thrilling riding devices, as well as an abundance of equipment and lighting devices that promises to afford Lakewood park's midway a glamour and thrill it has never had before, according to fair officials.

The early arrival of the midway attractions and many of the exhibits indicates, according to President Benton, that every attraction and exhibit in the entire fair grounds will be ready for the first visitor when the eighteenth annual Southeastern Fair opens its gates next Monday morning.

40,000 Will March In NRA Parade Here

More than 40,000 persons will march in the NRA parade in Atlanta October 4, it was indicated Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of a special committee in charge of arrangements.

Adjutant General Lindley Camp, marshal, said he is busy perfecting plans for the march, and that more than 10 divisions will be required so great and spontaneous is the response to the Atlanta and Georgia gesture of loyalty to President Roosevelt.

A corps of 21 reserve officers will act as aides to the marshal.

Another meeting of the committee has been called for 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, announced he has contacted all schools in the area and that the educational systems will make a fine showing.

VETS OF FOREIGN WARS BACK NRA MOVEMENT

The resolutions, which said that "as in time of war 'we did our part' in time of peace 'we do our part' and hereby make known to the local directors of the NRA our desire to co-operate with them," were offered at the meeting by Charles A. Moran, post historian and trustee.

The post voted the session to take part in the NRA parade, which will be held here on October 4.

J. K. Finch, senior vice commander of the post, presided over the meeting Tuesday night.

RICE MARKETING POST APPROVED BY WALLACE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(UP)—A marketing agreement between the California rice industry, including a price-fixing feature, became effective tonight with approval of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

A temporary price of $3.00 a hundred pounds for extra fancy California Japan rice at San Francisco was fixed, with the explanation that it would remain in effect only until organization work can be completed.

The agreement authorizes the secretary of agriculture to fix prices, provides for regulation of competition through a millers' marketing board and provides for a crop control program when and if necessary. The price is to be "translated" into producers' prices through the application of a schedule of deductions.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 26.—(P)—Insisting that "the guilty must be punished," Governor B. M. Miller tonight offered a $400 reward for the arrest and conviction of all or any of the persons who lynched Dennis Cross, negro, at Tuscaloosa Sunday.

RAIL PURCHASES

Plan for Loans at Low Interest Rate Mapped To Aid Railroads.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(P)—An unusually attractive loan plan for purchase of steel rails is expected in official circles to be offered to the railroads by the government in an effort to create additional employment.

This was made known in official circles today following a White House announcement yesterday that government officials and steel mill executives had considered bids on some 500,000 to 700,000 tons of steel rails.

The money—about $25,000,000—would come from the public works fund being allocated by Secretary Weeks, head of the public works administration.

The interest rate on the loans, it was said, authoritatively, probably will range from 3 to 4 per cent, with the smaller figure the more likely. Railroads are paying 5 to 5 1/2 per cent in the Reconstruction Corporation for financing loans and 4 1/2 per cent for work loans.

The loans likely would be for 10 years, with no interest the first year, and there probably would be no collateral security asked.

This would be done, it was said, in order to make the loans more attractive than no railroad could afford to pass them up.

The administration believes an order for 700,000 tons of rails would return thousands of section hands and track layers back on the railroad pay rolls with a resultant increase in purchasing power in smaller communities.

This amount of steel, however, is far under the normal requirements of the railroads. Usually 2,000,000 tons yearly are used.

Legion May Assist Anti-Crime Campaign

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(P)—A plan for the American Legion to fight crime through its thousands of posts in all of the 48 states was added today to the long list of subjects for discussion at the Legion's national convention next week.

National Commander Louis A. Johnson arrived to take charge of the convention activities and announced at least 10 states have petitioned for the national organization to open war on racketeering, kidnapping, robbery and other forms of crime.

He indicated that the national convention would suggest to Legion posts that they watch closely the effectiveness of organized police now existing rather than enter into chasing criminals themselves.

The national commander predicted the 1935 gathering of the Legion would be "the greatest convention of all times." He predicted an attendance of 300,000 Legion members.

Reports from other sources indicated the convention would be complete even to the presence of President Roosevelt, probably with an address from him on Monday, the opening day.

Johnson said he was convinced the Legion would reassert with enthusiasm its program for adequate national defense, express sturdy opposition to United States diplomatic recognition of soviet Russia, urge that checks be placed on the spread of communism in the United States, and adopt by a great majority the four-point program for veterans' rehabilitation.

that country was in distress and he had planned to donate the cattle to Greece, but found charity articles sent there were being sold. He testified he had paid R. M. King, president of the union stevedores, $3,500 for the cattle and sent them to Pattana.

Earlier E. V. Neven, treasurer of the Export Steamship Company, testified that after the line had borrowed funds from the shipping board to build four ships for the Atlantic-Mediterranean trade to cost more than $2,000,000 each, it had sought an extension of the loans.

Senator Black said he had the request had been placed before the Hoover cabinet and the witness replied that he understood it had. Black said there was a letter from the committee of the shipping board, had submitted a report that the export company owed three dollars for every one it owned.

It was during the testimony of William D. McLaughlin, of West Hampton, L. I., former treasurer of the company, that Black sought to obtain a statement that Herberman ordered the payment of a $510 tailor bill for O'Connor.

"It's my recollection one of the boys in the office was told that the bill was to be paid," McLaughlin said. He added that he thought it was H. J. Fahey who paid the bill and said it was a bill for a tailor named from the Steers Terminal Company, which was controlled by Herberman. This was in 1924, Black said.

"As a matter of fact, Mr. McLaughlin," Black said, "you know this check was drawn to pay a tailor bill for V. O'Connor, chairman of the shipping board."

McLaughlin said he had seen a memorandum on the matter and that it had been attended to apparently by Fahey. Black said that a check was written out to Fahey and that he received currency and paid the bill.

"For Mr. O'Connor? I never paid a bill in my life for Mr. O'Connor," McLaughlin said.

Explaining the purchase of the Florida properties through Mr. Irvine, Herberman said he learned she was going down there in 1927 and he thought he would "pick up some easy money" by buying her some lots. He said he advanced some money, one payment being $3,000 and added that Mrs. Irvine also put some money in the property.

members of the group making the trip and by Warren Moise, of Atlanta.

Robert Russell, of Winder, a brother of Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., said Tuesday that although he did not participate in the drawing of Georgia's bonds, he had been asked to serve with the other lawyers. Senator Russell was the author of the amendment to the public works bill which gave the president authority to waive the placing of securities for grants if he so desired.

The lawyers conferred at length with Mr. Clay and Arthur Lucas, another member of the commission, before leaving Atlanta.

"The president has gone to Hyde Park for 10 days and we hope to observe the greatest of seeing him about the matter," Mr. Clay said in speaking for the board. "We are confident that when the situation is laid before Secretary Lick and his advice, we will not have to go to the White House, but will receive favorable consideration from the administrator."

Meanwhile the board Tuesday continued to receive Georgia applications despite the fact that it has been directed by Washington authorities to consider no more than one application is reached on the entire situation.

Chairman Hughes Spaulding, of the board of directors of the university system of Georgia, Tuesday morning presented the board's application for a loan of $3,900,000, for additions and repairs to various units of the system. The details of the regents' program were announced Monday.

IN 2D WARD PROBE

Jury Adjourns Until Thursday; Barrett Hints City Workers' Politics.

As Fulton county grand jury Tuesday heard additional witnesses in the probe of alleged illegal voting in last Wednesday's primary, Ellis B. Barrett, thirteenth ward nominee for alderman, demanded a councilman investigation of "improper and illegal activities of municipal employees in the primary campaign," and candidates qualified for runner races to be held Tuesday.

The grand jury heard three witnesses in its inquisition into third ward balloting, it was said Tuesday afternoon. The first witness, a denial was made that indictments had been drawn in the second ward inquiry. The grand jury adjourned until Thursday or Friday and in the interim a special ballot-proving committee of the body will continue its study of evidence of alleged unlawful voting in the second and third wards.

The three witnesses heard Tuesday afternoon were legal residents of the eleventh ward, according to reports, on city time, the paper and all their ballots in the third ward in last Wednesday's primary.

Three Employees Named.

Barrett named three city employees, he said he had made a list of names in mimeographing a preferential list of candidates for last Wednesday's primary. He said the work was being done on city time, the paper and the mimeograph were the property of the city and that such use was illegal and improper. He said he would appear as a witness before the council committee to probe the conduct of W. Evans Chambers, city survey expert, and Luke Arnold, key's secretary.

Councilmen Homer C. Foster and I. Gloer Hailey, high vote-getters in the ninth ward aldermanic contest, will furnish the only city-wide race in next Tuesday's election. Both were qualified when entry lists closed Tuesday at noon.

Foster issued a statement in which he said he was making his mark for the aldermanic position on his record as a member of council which he characterized as "clean, economical and efficient government for the benefit of the city at large."

"It has been my endeavor during this time (his service as councilman) to conduct my affairs as to afford maximum relief to its citizens, while at the same time endeavoring to retain the greatest number of employees possible on the pay roll and to broaden the bread of the statement in part. 'Had I been willing to curtail political favor at the expense of my constituency during the past year, I would have been willing to do so.'"

Siegel Backs Chosewood.

Councilman G. Dan Bridges and former councilman Charles L. Chosewood, fighting for the third ward councilmanic nomination, will furnish the second most interesting runner race. Both are qualified. Harry B. Siegel, Tuesday issued a statement in which he said he would throw his support to Chosewood, the runner-up, in Tuesday's voting.

J. P. Osburn, third highest vote-getter in the race for democratic committee man from the seventh ward, Tuesday qualified to oppose J. M. Vinton, runner-up, claiming H. L. Carroll, who received the highest number of votes in the first race, was disqualified because he was not a bona fide resident of the ward.

Other run-over contests, all for executive committee positions, follow: Ninth ward—Fred P. Gibbs and S. C. Torrance; Tenth ward—B. E. Cook and Tom C. Smith.

Thirteenth ward—J. Carlisle Smith and Charles N. Warner.

Warner's friends Tuesday busy in his behalf following an organization meeting held at his home, 901 Virginia avenue, Monday night. Chess Smith, R. K. Rano and George W. Powell were selected leaders of groups to gain supporters.

for the purpose of accomplishing an end, adding:

"Ruthless competition and price cutting do not assist prosperity and continued stability of the country or community and are only of some temporary advantage."

A compilation prepared by Arthur D. Whiteside, the deputy who handled the retail code, said that 62.5 per cent of the letters and telegrams received had approved the general code in its present form and over 90 per cent of the 62.5 per cent specifically endorsed the stop-loss feature. Approximately 20.5 per cent objected to the provision reducing the working hours of maintenance and delivery employees to 40 hours weekly; 12.6 per cent objected to the elimination of prison-made goods from retail stores; 3.3 per cent opposed the provisions banning the use of company store cards; 0.4 per cent protested against elimination of the provision prohibiting merchandise lotteries, and 0.4 per cent objected to the stop-loss provision.

On the drug code, the analysis said 93 per cent endorsed the code as now written and only 6.5 per cent protested against the price control clause. The remaining objections were reported about evenly divided between protests against the maximum hour provisions for pharmacists and miscellaneous complaints.

The code was made public last week with the intention of soliciting views from the employers who would be affected but whose attitude had not been presented to the administration.

Deputy Sheriff Gordon Reynolds at Valparaiso said that the sheriff's automobile ran out of gasoline and the convicts halted an automobile driven by Cecil Stainer, living near Valparaiso. They forced Stainer to drive them to Wheeling where they obtained gasoline for the farmer's car.

Stainer escaped, while gasoline was being purchased and notified the sheriff's office at Valparaiso. Reynolds said the farmer was able to give up an incoherent report of what happened although apparently he was unharmed. Stainer said the convicts forced Hill to buy the gasoline.

Reviewing the Shows

Peruchi Players Give

Matinee Show Today

With another splendid comedy, the type of stage fare Atlantans like best of all, as their vehicle of the week, the Peruchi Players at the Erlanger theater are again scoring an emphatic hit this week. The play is "Our Wives," and it is a clever character study of some of the amusing foibles to which the feminine gender—particularly the married contingent—is peculiarly susceptible.

Gerald Rowan and Mildred Peters play the leads, while Nannette Sargent, Klock Hyder, Mrs. Peruchi, Robert Stewart, Betty Alton Fletcher and Gordon Peters have other good roles. And Leslie Laurens is very effective as the perfect butler.

There will be two performances of "Our Wives" today. The matinee, at 2:15, is offered at bargain prices just about as low as can be imagined. There are no reserved seats for the matinee, making it advisable to get to the theater rather early for first choice. The usual night performance, for 1934, a descendant, of the eight matinee, will be given at 8:15.

Henry Parker continues to score his invariable success singing from the pit between acts, while the Erlanger orchestra, with Walter Sheils conducting, dispenses popular music.

"Hello Sisters" Starts 3 Day Run at Georgia

"Hello, Sister," a new first-run attraction, opens at the Georgia theater today for three days only. The stars of the picture are James Dunn, Boots Mallory and Zasu Pitts. The picture is a comedy, and it is a comedy of the first class. It is a comedy of the first class. It is a comedy of the first class.

Basically the drama reveals the romance of a small-town boy and girl drawn together by mutual loneliness in the metropolis. More broadly, it pictures the effect this love has on their immediate surroundings, their friends, their lives. The story is from Dawn Powell's play of the same name.

James Dunn, whose first screen success was a Broadway character in "Bad Girl," is featured opposite the new screen find, Boots Mallory. Miss Mallory is an ash blonde, blue-eyed, southern beauty who typifies the girl of innocence of which the drama treats.

In addition to the feature picture, the Georgia also has on the program several entertaining short subjects including one of the famous Masquers' comedies, "Lost in Limehouse." Starting Saturday the Georgia will offer "Golden Harvest," one of the new season products from Paramount with Richard Arlen, Chester Morris, Genevieve Tobin and Roscoe Ates, the stuttering comedian.

GROUP TO MEET HERE
ON PETROLEUM CODEMacon, Ga., Sept. 26.—(P)—H. W. Jones, of Macon, member of the Regional Committee on Administration of the marketing features of the petroleum industry code, said today the committee would hold its first meeting in Atlanta at 10 a. m. Thursday in the Piedmont hotel.

Mr. Jones is a representative of the independent wholesale distributors, being interested in two such concerns here.

"I have no idea what the meeting in Atlanta will undertake," he said. "It may undertake to fix prices; I can't tell. But I know that everybody in the business is under the necessity of getting a better profit or they can't exist under the code. The major companies need more money, we need more, and the retailers need more."

The stamp collectors' booth will be decorated in the colors of the nations of the world. Stamps, from the first one issued in 1840 by Great Britain to the current issues of hundreds of nations, including postage dues, air mails, colonial issues and covers with stamps attached, will be displayed in decorated frames. The frames will be written up so that the stamps will be explained to those who do not collect.

The booth will have two members of the Stamp Collectors' Club in attendance from 10 o'clock in the morning until 9:30 o'clock at night all next week. Eugene Whitaker is president of the club and Miss Elsie Hansen is secretary and treasurer.

BRITAIN ANNOUNCES CONVERSION ISSUE

LONDON, Sept. 26.—(P)—The government announced today an issue of 150,000,000 pounds (currently $712,500,000) conversion loan, carrying 2 1/2 per cent at 94.

The purpose is to convert 4 1/2 per cent treasury bills due February 1, 1934.

Bankers Promise To Aid Individual

Corporations, business firms and the man on the street complying with the national recovery act will get an attentive ear when they ask for loans from members of the Atlanta Clearing House Association.

R. C. Williams, president of the association and vice president of the First National Bank of Atlanta, said Atlanta banks are willing to co-operate and are anxious to make all loans submitted which comply with sound banking practices.

Banks composing the Atlanta Clearing House Association, he said, were among the first to join the NRA movement in this city and to subscribe to its policies.

DAIRIES NOT SUBJECT TO NRA, NANCE SAYS

According to A. S. Nance, president of the Georgia Pure Milk League, there has been considerable misunderstanding about the dairyman's position in regard to the national recovery program.

The dairymen, Mr. Nance states, are doing everything in their power to co-operate with President Roosevelt.

Producers of milk are not expected to come under the NRA, according to a ruling of the government. They come under the Farm Relief Act, due to the fact that they are farmers and not industrialists. Their code has been worked out in co-operation with the authorities in the agricultural department at Washington.

During the past few days a number of people have inquired about the absence of the Blue Eagle on the dairy trucks. Mr. Nance declares that he is doing all in his power to explain the fact to the public at large that the dairymen, as agriculturalists are not intended to display the Eagle.

"Milk producers have been selling their product at a figure below the cost of production for some years," Mr. Nance states. "For this reason it is imperative that the dairy farmer be given the unstinted support of the government and public alike, if he is to make that progress along with the rest of the nation that will bring back prosperity. The dairy farmer has been long suffering, and has certainly already shown his desire and willingness to co-operate by lining up under the Farm Relief Act.

"Because of their patriotism the dairymen, if it were necessary that they come under the NRA, would be anxious to do so."

In connection with his statement relative to the farmer-dairymen's position on the recovery program, Mr. Nance stated that he also wished to call attention to the fact that the dairymen are now engaged in running a series of educational articles in The Constitution. They appear each Wednesday morning. Mr. Nance declares that these articles are designed to bring about a better understanding of the dairymen's mission. His business is to supply the best milk possible for the people of this city, and any educational matter on the subject ought to be of interest to the public. Mr. Nance says, "We urge all the people who drink milk and who are interested in this vital food, to read these articles, and visit our dairies."

INFLATION 'TRUCE' URGED BY THOMAS

Oklahoma Solon Asks Advocates to Halt Activities Temporarily.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—All advocates of inflation were urged today by Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, a leader of the campaign for cheaper money to quiet their clamor to permit full trial of President Roosevelt's credit expansion program. Thomas predicted the credit program would fail to lift and stabilize price levels.

He told newspapermen he would talk over his own proposal for a temporary cessation of the inflation agitation with various farm leaders who have come to the capital to campaign for the currency expansion.

The Thomas assertion came shortly after Senator Bulkley, democrat, Ohio, a member of the banking committee, had said following a conference with Mr. Roosevelt that inflation by issuing treasury notes "with in modest limits won't do any harm."

Bulkley, declining to indicate the chief executive's attitude, praised the Roosevelt course of expanding commercial and banking credit, and expressed the opinion that "ultimately we will come to fixing the gold content of the dollar substantially lower than the old gold content."

Meanwhile, John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers' Union, in an open letter to President Roosevelt, copies of which were sent to members of congress, called for re-monetization of silver and retirement of bonds by issuing treasury notes.

Under the inflationary power given the president in the farm relief law, Simpson told the chief executive, "You can kick the international bankers out of the national capital any day you want to."

MARYLAND MILK PACT SIGNED BY WALLACE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—The Baltimore, Md., milk marketing agreement was signed today by Secretary Wallace.

The agreement was signed by the Maryland State Dairymen's Association and Secretary Wallace. It provides a 30-day licensing period during which time an appeal will be made of the books of distributors in the Baltimore area to check spread between prices paid the producers and that charged by the distributors.

It fixes a proposed minimum price of $2.61 a hundred pounds, or 22.12 cents a gallon, for No. 1 milk and $1.97 a hundred, or 17 cents a gallon for No. 2 milk, to be paid to producers. A price ranger will also be fixed for the butter fat market.

The code proposes a retail wagon price of 11 cents a quart. The sale price to stores for resale was set at 10 cents a quart.

While the retail prices have not been definitely decided upon, the farm administration said they probably would be fixed as the maximum.

3 Big Stills Raided By City Patrolmen

Three liquor stills with a capacity for turning out 875 gallons—among the largest found at one place in the Atlanta area—were discovered Tuesday night in a barn at the residence of Joe Cromer, negro, at 191 Sunset avenue, by Patrolmen H. G. Brice and M. D. Cartwright.

Cromer, who operates a transfer business from the rear of 144 Whitehall street, told the police he stored the stills for a white man whose name he could not remember but whose address he had somewhere among his effects. Copper hogheads capable of containing 1500 gallons of mash were stored with the stills. The negro said the stills had been used in the manufacture of medicinal whisky.

One still was of 250-gallon capacity; another 75 gallons, and the third of 50 gallons. Lamar Poole, acting chief of police, ordered that the paraphernalia be not disturbed, and that federal authorities be notified.

DANGEROUS FAT GONE--50 POUNDS IN 5 MONTHS

She Feels Years Younger

"I was very discouraged after having pneumonia which left me with severe arthritis. I read about Kruschen Salts and am now on my 5th jar. Have reduced 50 lbs. of fat in 5 months and feel 15 years younger. Arthritis never bothers me. Everyone tells me how good I look—even my doctor." Mrs. Margaret Brinkley, Buffalo, N. Y.

A half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of hot or cold water not only reduces double chins, bulging waistline, fat ankles and hips—steadily, safely and without leaving skin wrinkled—but it builds up splendid physical fitness—it increases charm and attractiveness as reflected in clear skin, bright eyes and added vivaciousness.

Just take this healthful "little daily dose" of Kruschen FAITHFULLY—as dangerous, excess fat vanishes—observe the pleasing evidence of new strength, increased mental and physical ability, more endurance, freer breathing, freedom from headaches, drowsiness, acidity, indigestion and blemishes.

With an inexpensive jar of Kruschen (lasts 4 weeks) you have EVERYTHING you need to get back to normal. NOTHING TO LOSE because money back from any drugstore the world over if not joyfully satisfied—but be sure and get KRUSCHEN and get slender.—(adv.)

Suspect Is Questioned In N.Y. Subway Slaying

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Harry Stone, alias Harry Nichols, who police said was a "small time gunman" was shot and killed late today on a crowded subway platform.

Authorities questioned Louis Balner, 24-year-old chauffeur of Bayonne, N. J., concerning the slaying, but Balner denied having ever seen Stone. A negro porter, watching the exit, chased a costumed man, who he said, ran past him. He seized Balner, who was taken to police headquarters.

ARGENTINA, BRITAIN INITIAL TRADE PACT

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 26.—(UP)—The tariff accord supplementing the trade treaty between Great Britain and Argentina was initiated tonight by Foreign Minister Saavedra Lamas and the British ambassador, Sir Henry Chilton.

The accord consists of a general tariff understanding, with four annexes.

Missouri Judge To Fine Dry Violators 10 Cents

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Judge F. J. Frankenhoff today announced that hereafter all fines for municipal liquor violations will be 10 cents.

"The ordinances stipulate a minimum fine of $100," said Judge Frankenhoff, "but hereafter I shall at once give a stay of execution of $90.90 of each fine. This is in keeping with the spirit of the times, in view of the action of 31 states in voting for repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

2 BANDITS CAPTURED IN BANK ROBBERY

ENGLAND, Ark., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Two unmasked bandits were captured in the Bank of England late today after they had locked six persons in the bank vault and scooped up $6,000 which employees were preparing to place in the vault at closing time.

The men gave their names as C. M. Strawn and Algie Heiman, both of North Little Rock.

16 Killed and 200 Injured As 'Quakes Rock Italian Hills

ROME, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Latest reports tonight showed 16 persons killed, approximately 200 injured and hundreds made homeless in the earthquake which rocked the Abruzzi mountain region in the early morning hours. That district has furnished tens of thousands of emigrants to America.

Hundreds, still terrorized tonight, slept in open fields, huddling about huge bonfires to protect themselves from the chilly autumn mountain air. Soldiers and fascist militiamen erected villages of tents. The hospitals in the area were overtaxed with the injured.

All the dead and most of the injured came from small villages. The larger cities were spared serious victims, although they suffered the loss of many homes.

Residents of Sulmona, a city of 10,000, found scarcely a home without a damaged roof, but less than 30 persons were injured there.

Six of the dead were at the town of Lama Dei Pelicci. A number of the injured were reported dying.

Other dead were in the towns of Teramo Peligna, Fara San Martino, Cassa Caudicella, Torre-Dei-Passeri and Salle.

Rescue work was pushed rapidly in response to a plea of Premier Mussolini to send extensive assistance to the stricken towns. More than 1,000 fascists and Red Cross workers joined in the relief operations.

A tunnel between Sulmona and Roccaraso caved in just after a passenger train had passed through. The aqueduct leading to Sulmona was damaged and the Corvi palace was severely shaken.

The shock also was felt in Rome and Naples.

CUBAN 'REDS' PAY TRIBUTE TO MELLA

Labor Situation Reports Meager; Some Points Still Serious.

HAVANA, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Communist activities overshadowed political developments in Cuba today as simultaneous demonstrations, paid tribute to Julio Antonio Mella, slain in Mexico in 1928. His friends said he was killed by agents of former President Gerardo Machado.

The government's armed forces were augmented by 2,000 members of a student organization known as the Carabobo army. The group was given the status of a civil guard.

More than 3,000 communists staged a demonstration in Havana at the West Line docks, where the remains of Mella were brought from Mexico contained in two urns draped in red flags. The ashes of the student leader were taken from the liner and escorted through the capital streets to labor headquarters on the Prado.

Meanwhile, strikes continued unresolved in sugar mills in Oriente and Camaguey province.

The situation at the Chaparra and Delicias mills of the Cuban American Sugar Company in Oriente province continued critical. Strikers were in possession of the mills, and light and water supplies in Chaparra, Delicias and nearby towns were cut off. Food was scarce.

Seven Americans, including one woman and two children were refused at the Yacht Club, near Chaparra, and an American destroyer stood by Carlos Valladares, former mayor of Santa Clara, was shot to death by unidentified persons at the country home, a short distance from the city. An army sergeant, named by the secretary of the interior, was acting as mayor.

No word was received from Tanano, near the north coast of Oriente province, where 16 Americans and Britons were virtual prisoners of workers.

DAY BEGINS ON THE FARM

---While You comfortably Sleep!

While the man in the city comfortably snoozes, long before daybreak, the Grade A Raw Milk dairyman is up and about the duties of the day.

He drives his cattle up from the green pastures---wherein they have munched succulent, green grass, which makes for more and better milk.

The cows are next fed a balanced ration of feed, their udders are washed, and the milking begins. As fast as the pure, white liquid food is drawn from the healthy cow it is strained and cooled before it is bottled. Then the milk---in its NATURAL state, with all the goodness and life-giving food value---is ready for you.

Your dairyman is proud of his herd, which represents years of hard work and much money. He is proud of his barns, milk room and equipment. All of these things make possible the production of the best milk you can buy ---and much of the labor is performed early and late, while you sleep or enjoy the diversions of life.

Officer Admits He Held Capone Aid While Companion Shot Him in Back

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—(AP)—A policeman in on trial for shooting an armed Capone gangster in the back today after having testified that he held "Public Enemy" Frank Nitti's wrists while Detective Harry Lang shot Nitti.

Nitti, former "enforcer" for Al Capone, now in Atlanta prison, pointed out Lang from the witness stand as the man who shot him as he stood unarmed. Lang, since discharged from the police force, is charged with assaulting Nitti with intent to kill.

Testimony that the underworld had marked the late Anton J. Cermak for execution because of his anti-criminal activities and had chosen Louis "Little New York" Campagna as his executioner, was given by former Police Sergeant Harry Miller in the trial of Lang.

Asked whether Mayor Cermak had received threats from the underworld, Miller replied:

"He did. He told of a plan that had been made to kill him because he had planned to stop all gangster operations during the 'World Fair.'"

Sergeant Chris Callahan testified he accompanied Lang and other policemen from Mayor Anton J. Cermak's office last December to raid an office in a near-by building. He told of finding Nitti, who tried to chew up a piece of paper.

"I grabbed both Nitti's wrists and told him to spit out the paper," Callahan related.

"Lang was standing behind Nitti, and he pulled his gun and shot Nitti in the back of the head near the left ear."

Then I jumped away to get out of the line of fire. I fell over a desk I saw Lang shoot twice again. When I got up, Lang shot himself in the left forearm and said, 'The dirty shot me.'"

Callahan said Nitti and his companions in the office were unarmed. The swarthy Capone gangster declared Lang shot without provocation. He said he had not made a move to resist arrest and that he was making bets on the horse races, and not conferring with gangsters, when the police entered.

Prosecutors attempted to bring in charges that Ted Newberry, gangster slain, paid Lang $15,000 to shoot Nitti, but objections halted such questioning.

Lang has threatened to "blow the lid off the democratic party in Illinois" if the charges of attempting to kill Nitti were pressed.

F. D. R. DISCUSSES MONETARY ISSUES

President, on Way to New York, Confers With Yale Economist.

By FREDERICK A. STORM.
NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(UP)—

Conferees that began in the White House and terminated aboard his special train here tonight brought complex world monetary problems to President Roosevelt for review.

For more than five hours President Roosevelt heard Prof. James H. Rogers, Yale economist, and unofficial adviser on money matters, present various aspects of the international financial picture.

The meeting of the two was looked upon as significant from the standpoint of injecting the fresh views of an expert into the situation. Friends of the administration were firm in their belief, however, that the present policy, based on widespread credit expansion, would suffice for the time being.

The chief executive, they pointed out, was merely sitting in the conference as a listener. At the same time they refuted reports which declared Rogers, with Prof. George Warren of Cornell University, was making a special survey of the monetary situation for the White House.

The possibility of war debts coming in for discussion with the general international financial picture also was heightened tonight as the president received at his east 65th street home Jesse L. Strauss, ambassador to France.

Mr. Roosevelt arrived in New York to receive a tremendous ovation from homeward-bound citizens who lined the route from Pennsylvania station to his house. The president, riding in an open automobile, responded to the cheers.

He was greeted at the door by his mother, Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, and his daughter, Mrs. Curtis Dall, and his two grandchildren, Sissie and Bessie Dall. Later, he attended a family dinner in honor of his eldest son, James, and the latter's wife, who sailed at midnight aboard the Europa for a six-week tour of Europe.

FOUR LOAN COMPANIES CITED FOR CONTEMPT

Four loan companies, through their attorneys, were cited for contempt in the federal court Tuesday on the complaint of George F. Oakes, a borrower, who said they had held up his wages with garnishments in spite of a federal court injunction.

The companies were the Central Investment Company, D. O. Chestnut and R. W. Johnson, the Atlanta Finance Company and J. T. Baker. Don K. Johnston, W. W. Parsons, G. D. McWilliams and H. V. Allen, attorneys representing the companies, asked for a continuance for the preparation of their defense, and this was granted by the court.

REBATING ON U. S. JOB UNDER INVESTIGATION

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 26.—(AP)—John E. Rapelye, United States engineer in charge of the construction of the new federal building, was investigating today a charge that a foreman among the bricklayers had been engaged in rebating.

This is the name given the custom of taking a percentage of the pay of the men, said in this instance to be a dollar a day.

The matter came to a head when 58 men quit work yesterday. The investigation followed. The government engineer said today that the men had not returned to work "as yet."

Richards' Wife, Daughter Mark Birthdays Together

Official duties of Acting Mayor Alvin L. Richards Tuesday rested lightly on his shoulders in connection with his filial responsibilities.

He was faced with the almost impossible task of providing two birthday presents—one for Mrs. Richards and the other for his daughter, Miss Lucy Richards.

He measured up, however, and as he left the mayor's office said he had what it took to go home. He declined to tell family secrets, but asserted the combined ages of his wife and daughter totaled 74 years.

Debutante Cousins To Make Bows At Supper-Dance Friday, Dec. 1

A duo of charming debutante cousins, Misses Caroline Crumley and Harriet Grant, have decided to make their formal bows to Atlanta society together at the brilliant supper-dance at which their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crumley and Mr. and Mrs. B. There are all sorts of methods of trading, but the most satisfactory method is the one in which each party is satisfied that he hasn't been cheated or deceived out of his rights. To accomplish this the trading must be done when all parties are in good humor. Therefore when you approach the subject with your mother don't complain of her "queerness," don't say that she has been unfair to you, don't threaten her with disobedience if she doesn't appear willing to meet the terms you suggest. If you are patient and reasonable in your attitude she is likely to adopt the same sort of attitude with you.

Answer: Most assuredly you do deserve to have fun after you have worked hard all day and your mother is so lacking in sympathy and understanding with youth as you say

The Summer Baseball Bugaboo Is Wiped off the Books

It appears, from reading over the constitution and by-laws of the new Southeastern conference that a bold stroke has been struck for the abolition of hypocrisy in the administration of southern athletics.

The conference is so new that no one has really peered into its laws. Consequently it was a bit startling to find that the old bugaboo of summer baseball has been laid by the heels, so to speak.

The boys may now play with their summer leagues or with their factory teams, receive money for so doing and still retain their status as eligible athletes. Which is good and proper.

The Southeastern conference says that any player who plays with a professional team or who signs a contract, implied or in fact, is ineligible.

It then defines a professional team as any which is recognized by the National Association of Professional Baseball.

This leaves the summer leagues and the factory teams out of the professional classification and makes it possible for the boys with baseball ability to step out and get a job. And if playing baseball makes them a bit more money than that is perfectly all right. They have not played professional baseball.

This reduces cheating and lying and camouflage and the use of fake names to an absolute minimum. It also does away with the absurdity of declaring players ineligible for football because they had played more than three games of baseball per week. Under the new rule the boys may play seven games per week just so long as they do not perform for an organized professional team.

It is a decent rule and one which should have been in force all along.

LO, THE POOR ATHLETE.

It has always seemed to me that the athlete has been discriminated against in these reform waves which have struck the land in the past few years.

It was accounted to be a noble deed to send some young man or young lady off to learn to play the piano or the violin. With all expenses paid. It was also well known that the young ladies and young men would never be first rate artists but just fair musicians who would probably marry and forget all about it or end up in some hotel orchestra.

Yet it was a noble gesture to send them away. And a heinous offense to send a halfback to college who would please thousands for four years. Or maybe a guard who would inflict as much pain and suffering on the opposition as the musicians would on recital nights to the groups listening in.

I have seen some of the paintings done by the young talent sent away with all expenses paid by some admiring man of wealth. And about all they do is hang for a time in some obscure gallery. And be peered at by a few old ladies. The athlete who was aided by some wealthy alumnus was viewed with alarm.

I have never been able to understand it. But then it is probably because I am dumb that way. I always recall the words of a wealthy man who was sending six girls and six boys to college. The boys were all football players. And a committee came and asked him about it.

"It is none of your business what I do with my money," he said.

It was all right for a college athlete to work as pharmacist's assistant during the summer or to toil in some clothing store and attract customers because of his athletic fame. But to play summer baseball and be paid for that—that was perfectly terrible. And so he was exiled.

It is perfectly splendid that the Southeastern conference has wiped the books clean of the odious summer baseball rule. The rule did nothing except inspire deceit and dishonesty. And work a hardship.

THOSE GALEHOUSE BLUES.

SAN ANTONIO BASEBALL FANS, I SUPPOSE, ARE MOURNFULLY SINGING "THOSE GALEHOUSE BLUES" AFTER THE SERIES FINAL.

NEW ORLEANS WINS THE SERIES.

New Orleans has won the Dixie series and thereby closed out one of the wierdest chapters in baseball. The Pelicans defeated a fourth place club of the Texas league.

The Texas league employed the system whereby the first four teams played a series to determine the winner. And San Antonio won. The peculiar part about this system is that it was tried in the International league and the fourth place club won there.

It did baseball no good at all to have this spectacle offered as a real Dixie series. New Orleans was the legitimate winner of the play-off in the Southern Association. But had that season not been split the Pelicans would have finished second to Memphis.

It was all too weird. And should teach the baseball owners that what baseball needs is good baseball. The game should be freed from all freak schedule arrangements, all clowns, all buffoons, all circus stunts and supplied with good baseball. And nothing else.

HUMAN STUPIDITY.

He had obtained from the library that most interesting book, "A Short Introduction to the History of Human Stupidity." It was three cents the day.

Having read the book he put it away with some of his own. And there it stayed. While the three cents per day mounted and mounted with all the speed and dexterity of funds running wild.

Horror-struck he found it just yesterday. And returned it post-haste to find the dues amounting to more than the cost of the valuable book.

"The History of Human Stupidity," said the young lady, the bright young lady, at the desk. "You certainly kept it a long time didn't you?"

He went away, mournfully wishing he could write another chapter to the book.

CHEERS FOR THE BABE.

The announcement that Babe Ruth would pitch the last game of the season for the New York Yankees has struck a popular chord. There are millions of Babe Ruth fans, of whom I am one. The following letter is a sample of the interest in the Babe:

Dear Mr. McGill:

ALEX IS PLEASED WITH HIS SQUAD; HINTS SHAKE-UP

Varsity's Lethargy in Scrimmage Irks Coach. Frosh Score at Will.

By Jimmy Jones.

The mark of disapproval lay heavily upon the Georgia Tech football squad following yesterday's practice, after which Coach Alexander declared that "terrible" was the only descriptive term that he could employ in discussing the scrimmage between the Jacket varsity and the Freshmen-Grey Devil outfit.

Coach Alex was obviously disgusted when the Freshmen, using Clemson plays, pushed over three or four touchdowns in rapid-fire order from the varsity's 10-yard line and expressed himself in caustic terms at the lack of resistance shown by the veterans.

"You can say for me that we looked punk and that unless this self-inflicted pain on the part of some of the squad is remedied, we're liable to take a licking Saturday," Alex stated after the scrimmage.

NOT SO GOOD.

The Tech coach also intimated that a few players who considered themselves all set for starting berths Saturday were due for disappointment unless they showed him something between now and then.

"We've had nothing but nice things said about us, I've said only nice things about the players, but some of them have gotten the idea that they've cinched their position and don't have to work anymore," Coach Alex declared in scathing tones.

Time after time he gave the freshman the ball on the various 10-yard lines in order to test its defense. Then the freshmen started ripping through, aided by an offside penalty or so.

Hayes, of Boys' High, scored one touch-down, and also kicked a high, hook the ball over, not to mention another score by Owens and a pass, Hayes to Fusher, that netted another.

When the freshmen, after only one day of absorbing the Clemson plays under Mack Tharp's instruction, looked so good, Coach Alexander gave the varsity the ball against the Grey Devils.

The regular Jackets did some better offensively but did not show enough improvement to satisfy Alex. He found considerably fault with the blocking, the way the backs took to the holes that were opened and several other phases of play.

LET DOWN.

The squad looked good in its scrimmage last Saturday, but the let-down Tuesday was most displeasing to Mr. Alexander.

But for a few nice runs by Peterson, Martin and Phillips, the varsity showed lack of drive.

One may rest assured that in Alex's present frame of mind, more scrimmaging is due for today and tomorrow, with the chances of some of the players who had been stepped up to varsity berths being relegated down a notch or so on the squad. In fact, Alex may surprise several by making drastic revisions in his early plans for Saturday's lineup.

"Red" Barron and Dummy LeMay, former Tech stars, saw the practice. Red brought two of his injured Monro players, Aver and Mike Chambers to have a look at them.

Zaharias Wins When Jones Is Hurt

George Zaharias' arm was lifted in victory over Paul Jones last night at the auditorium where a filled house shrieked its rage at the arch villain.

The match had been fast and furious all the way with Jones winning the first fall. It came by his famous hook punches, the hold that can't be broken once it is obtained.

They were battling hardly five minutes toward the second fall before Jones had the science hold again. Zaharias struggled to his feet three times. The fourth time he reached the ropes and pitched forward. Jones, who was astride his back, went out with his legs, being unable to really let go, and Zaharias went hurling after them. The near 500 pounds of wrestling beef crashed to the floor after the drop of seven feet and Jones was injured.

The boxing commission physician worked with him and Zaharias was asked to allow his opponent five or ten minutes. This the villain refused to do while the crowd yelled its rage. He was firm and demanded his fight. So to speak, and was declared the winner.

It was one of the most spectacular matches in weeks.

In the semi-windup Frank Speer, the former Georgia Tech boy, went an hour to a draw with Joe Cox, the tough boy. The match was rough all the way with Speer showing to good advantage. Speer is a greatly improved wrestler.

Another card was announced for next Tuesday night.

Hornsby Decides On Rajah at Third

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.—(P)—Looking ahead to next year, Rogers Hornsby, manager of the pennant St. Louis Browns, has about decided on a third baseman who can hit—Rogers Hornsby.

There's nothing definite about it, but the Rajah has left the impression with baseball writers that he will attempt to play regularly in 1934 in an effort to get more runs across the plate.

"We need punch more than anything else," says Hornsby. "Hornsby would like to add big George Earnshaw, of the Athletics, to his pitching staff if it could be done without parting with anything valuable."

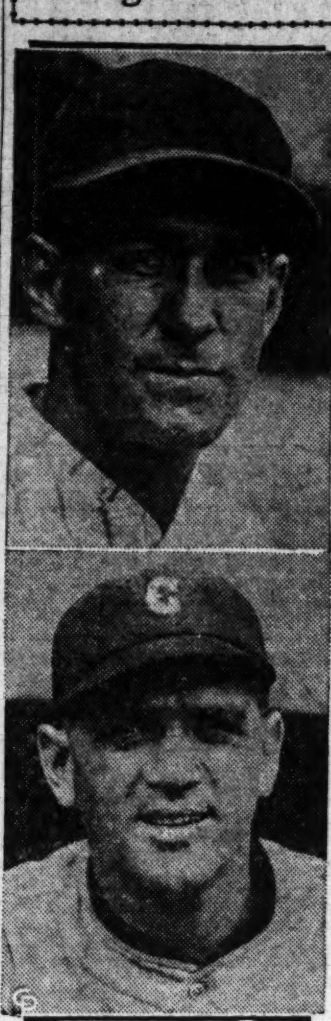

Romanoff Wrestles On Power Co. Card

George Romanoff, the original spelman of the movies, will wrestle Dutch Green, former middleweight champion of the world, at 8 o'clock Friday night in the first show of the season to be sponsored by the Athletic and Social Club of the Georgia Power Company.

The match is scheduled to last an hour.

Fans will also see plenty of action in a 45-minute limit match between Frank Rommell, of Gadsden, Ala., and Young London.

Tiger Boss?

Bucky Harris, Top. Steve O'Neill, former Cleveland catcher, is believed possible to succeed Bucky Harris, who resigned as manager of the Detroit Tigers.

SHARKEY FACES TOMMY TONIGHT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—(P)—Deposed as heavyweight ruler and beaten in his latest start, Jack Sharkey, the Boston tar, takes another step on the comeback trail tomorrow night in a 15-round meeting with Philadelphia boxing master, Tommy Loughran.

The bout, to be waged in the Phillies' ball park, is the first of its length in Pennsylvania since the state legislature extended the limit from 10 rounds at its last session.

Sharkey, defeated by King Levinsky less than two weeks ago, will go into the ring with perhaps a ten-pound weight advantage and the memory of the "wise boys" quoting figures as high as 21-2 to 1 on the former heavyweight titlist four years ago in New York.

Left-jabbing Loughran claims he walked into a "sucker punch" in the New York encounter, and that he won't commit the error again, but the odds are on Sharkey to take him, with the odds on Sharkey's most capable blocking back, was declared out of the West Point game with an injured knee.

Popeko sustained the wrenched leg in the game against Spring Hill Saturday, but the injury did not seem serious enough to impair his playing until today. Coach Lake Russell said that he doubted if Popeko would make the journey with the team, which leaves here Thursday morning.

With Popeko out, it is likely that Russell will carry along Gerald McQuig, another fullback who is also playing with a leg injury. That leaves the fullback duties squarely on the shoulders of Sophomore Tom Porter, whose greatest forte is punting. McQuig not having scrimmaged for two weeks.

Russell sent the Bears through a line drill today against the Cubes, and it was a sophomore lineman—Carl Altonen at guard—who cheered him most. Ernie Zinkowsky, halfback, let the offense against the Freshmen, in the none-too-impressive workout.

The regular line up with Reesor and Harrison, end; Camp and Porter, tackle; Altonen and Redlick, guards; Lichter, center; Trommerhouse, quarterback; Zinkowsky and Davino, halfbacks, and Porter, fullback.

Max Rosenbloom, Walker Matched

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(UP)—Max Rosenbloom, world light-heavyweight champion, and Mickey Walker, former middleweight king, were matched today for a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden on November 8. Rosenbloom's title will be at stake.

It will be their first meeting, although promoters have been trying for two years to bring them together.

October 13—Elberton in Elberton.
October 20—Warrenton in Washington.

Vickers, Fullback, Lost to Monroe

Red Barron came here yesterday with Vickers, his star fullback, at Monroe, and placed him in the care of Mike Chambers, Georgia Tech trainer, along with another player.

Vickers has a dislocated shoulder and is lost for Monroe's game with Boys' High here Thursday night at Ponce de Leon park.

Barron was seen over the loss of Vickers, but with a heavy, fast line expects to give Boys' High a real battle.

Red said he planned to devote to workout today.

BROWN IS STAR OF SCRIMMAGE AS 'DEVILS' FAIL

Reds Are Unable to Get Together on N. C. State Plays.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 26.—The inability of the Red Devils to get their N. C. State plays working and the offensive play of young Sam Brown enlivened the afternoon workout as the Georgia Bulldogs got the first of three scrimmages preliminary to a real battle Saturday.

Usually precise and capable in running plays, the Reds today were unable to get together on their N. C. State formations. Either the heat bothered the boys or it was just an off day. Either way, the two varsity teams that defended themselves against the Red's feeble efforts got little real good from their defensive work.

Back at right halfback again, Sam Brown took the offensive honors for the day after Coach Harry Mehre had called an abrupt halt to the defensive workout. Brown, who weighs 160, was taking the ball for long jaunts down the field. His play was smooth and polished and he had a lot of drive. Once he kept going for 4 yards with three Red tacklers hanging to him.

BULLDOGS FIGHT.

Although the Reds were poor on offense, the Bulldogs were in there fighting with lots of pep on both of defense and offense. The varsity eleven looked good when defending their territory from Red invasion, but, just as they revealed, they must be attributed to the Red impotence isn't quite certain. Be that as it may, however, the varsity had a lot of the well-known pep that is the Bulldogs' trademark.

John McKnight was still in at center on the first varsity team, with Yank Ludwig favoring his game ankle on the sidelines. LeRoy Moorehead and John Brown were the guards. Allan Shi, who just became a tackle last week, was at right tackle with Charley Oppert, quarterback, and Henry Wagner were ends. Jack Griffith directed the team and the remainder of the backfield was composed of Homer Key, center, and halfbacks, and Buck Chapman, fullback.

GASTON SHIFTED.

Marion Gaston, the senior who has divided his time between fullback and halfback on a number of occasions, was shifted back to fullback today. Johnny Jones, sophomore, fullback, has a broken rib, an examination revealing that he has only two fullbacks, since Joe Crouch was already ailing. Gaston's presence at fullback makes it three.

The Bulldogs abandon their three daily sessions Wednesday. Hereafter the squad will practice at 4 in the afternoon with lectures at night, if at all.

Popeko Lost To Mercer Saturday

MACON, Ga., Sept. 26.—(P)—Mercer's chances against Army were greatly dimmed today when a real Stanley Bach, the composer of some of the most popular songs of the year, was declared out of the West Point game with an injured knee.

Popeko sustained the wrenched leg in the game against Spring Hill Saturday, but the injury did not seem serious enough to impair his playing until today. Coach Lake Russell said that he doubted if Popeko would make the journey with the team, which leaves here Thursday morning.

Dodd Sees Kercheval As Forward Pass Star

Kentucky Kicking Star Real Triple Threat; Wildcats Have Big Team.

By Jimmy Jones.

Ralph Kercheval, the Kentucky sophomore who astounded the assemblage at Grant field last year with his superb display of kicking against Georgia Tech, will be seen in a new and more versatile role as a back when Tech sees him as a junior Saturday week at Lexington, according to Bobby Dodd, who scouted the Wildcats in their 46-2 rout of the Maryville Teachers last Saturday night.

Scout Dodd, armed with paper and pencil, arrived in Lexington about twilight—some hour to be scouting a football game—had his supper and immediately went out to Stoll field with the pleasant anticipation of seeing the talented Mr. Kercheval kick the ball around. A pretty fair punter himself, and a great admirer of the kicking art, Mr. Dodd was naturally an admirer of the Kentucky star.

But when the game started, Kentucky stepped out with a nifty passing attack with Kercheval on the receiving end, the Wildcats completed eight out of ten passes attempted on Maryville and Kercheval thrived virtually every one of them. Three of them went for touchdowns.

And to the further surprise of Scout Dodd, Kercheval punted the football only once—that was when he put it in play from the 20-yard line after Maryville scored its second. It was a good punt, of course.

DODD IMPRESSED.

Needless to say, Dodd was impressed with Kercheval. He was already a runner and a kicker and now that he seems to have developed into a real Stanley Bach, the composer of some of the most popular songs of the year, he passed some last year but was not a passing threat against Tech.

"They might have been covering up the running attack, for after all they didn't need it, but this Kercheval certainly has added to Kentucky's passing game," Dodd commented.

The size of the Kentucky team also impressed him.

"They have a bunch of giants on the line, particularly in Jobe, the tackle, and Davidson, at guard," Bobby said. The rest of the line stacks up well with Joe Burnett and Dutch and a pair of clever flankers, back to give it poise.

OTHER GOOD BACKS.

Besides Kercheval, Dodd thought Cassidy and McMillan looked the best of the backs. He didn't see much of Stanley Bach, the composer of some of the most popular songs of the year, he passed some last year but was not a passing threat against Tech.

While it seems to use no set system, or rather a mixture of several, Dodd saw some power in the Kentucky offense, especially the strong side plays. Few efforts at the weak side looked impressive.

The Wildcats are sure to be tough for the Jackets again this year on the second game. They are as eager to erase the doubtful score of last year as the Jackets, so the word is being bandied about.

A crowd of something like 8,000 turned out to see Kentucky play Maryville the night game and an even larger one is expected for that with Tech at Lexington. The Kentucky Athletic Association lowered prices for first game and found the more a profitable one.

Meanwhile, Mr. Alexander and Mr. Dodd, too, for that matter, are more concerned with Clemson Saturday. They've got to play that one first.

Why worry about Kentucky or anybody else, when we've got Auburn, Alabama, Tulane, Vandy, Duke, Georgia and all the others to worry about?" Mr. Alexander asked the boys when they were talking about Kentucky Monday evening.

RYE, N. Y., Sept. 26.—(P)—Justifying their selections as the top seeded players, Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, veteran internationalists in their amateur days, today led a parade of the favorites through the opening rounds in the seventh annual professional tennis championships at the Westchester Country Club.

Richards, ranked No. 1, in the absence of Bill Tilden, swept into the third round with a straight set defeat of Benjamin M. Levin, former Cornell University ace, after drawdowns in the first round. The scores were 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

Hunter disposed of young Robert L. Cahill, Bronxville, N. Y., field club instructor, 6-2, 6-0, 6-1. The triumph placed the New Rochelle, N. Y., publisher in the second round.

The field of 30 was reduced to 28 when Karl Kozeluh, of Czechoslovakia, twice holder of the title, and Hans Nusien, young German, stayed to arrive in this country in time to compete. As the result James Mitchell, of Richmond, Va., advanced into the second round. Mitchell was drawn against Nusien.

TEXAS CHAMPS ARE SHUT OUT BY GALEHOUSE

Hurls Pelicans to 2-0 Victory To End Annual Series.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 26.—(P)—The New Orleans Pelicans, champions of the Southern association, today swept forward to their first Dixie series title by turning in a third straight victory over San Antonio, Texas league champions, in Heinemann park.

Dennis Galehouse, the Pelis' fair-haired boy, facing the champions for the third time in six days, made it a shutout, 2 to 0, and became the undisputed local hero of the 1933 season.

He yielded only five scattered bingles while his teammates were reaching Abe "Payday" Miller for nine safeties, good for runs in the second and third, Louis Berger, relief utility man, playing third base, drove in both of the Pelis' runs, accounting for two hits in three times up.

Less than 2,500 witnesses, the deciding contest of a series far from being a financial success. Total attendance for the three in six days, made it a Texas was only around 20,000. With players participating only in the first four days' receipts, the Pelicans figure to get around $900 each and the losing Missions about $400 a piece.

It was an easy-money-miny-mo affair between the clubs until the series shifted from the stadium to a suburban site with a win in the opener Wednesday night and New Orleans tied it.

The following evening, The Missions won a 3-2 split, but the final Texas game and New Orleans evened it up again on Sunday. Then the Pelis settled down in the local day contests and made it three straight for the title.

Three before New Orleans bid for the Dixie crown with no success. Larry Gilbert's men, as 1932 Southern association champions lost to Fort Worth. In 1926, they dropped the series to Dallas and in 1927 took four straight licks from Wichita Falls.

FROM BEHIND.

New Orleans came to the top of the Southern race from away behind this year, winning the season's start by beating out Memphis, first-half winners, in a playoff for the title.

BEN CANTWELL WINS TWENTIETH AS GIANTS LOSE

Braves Star One of Three To Attain Mark in National.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Lanky Ben Cantwell, of the Boston Braves, became the third National league pitcher to win 20 games this season when he turned back the Giants, 5 to 3, today in a struggle with Roy Parmelee. The other flingers to reach the 20-game mark were Carl Hubbell, of the Giants, and Dizzy Dean, of St. Louis.

Cantwell was struggling against odds most of the way, but the Boston infield pulled him out of several holes by executing four double plays and Pinky Whitney provided the winning runs with a homer in the third inning. The lean left-hander gave the champions 10 hits while Parmelee allowed only six.

Parmelee had two bad innings. In the first Boston scored twice when Bill Urbanek started off with a single; Tommy Thompson doubled and went to third on Buck Jordan's grounder; and Randy Moore followed with another two-bagger. The Giants got those two back in the same inning, but with two out and one on in the third, Moore dropped a Texas league double into right and Whitney smacked a drive into the lower right field stands for a homer that meant three runs.

The Giants got their first two runs when Joe Moore singled, Bernie James sent him along to third with a double and Joe Malay's long single brought them both home. They tallied again in the fourth on successive singles by George Davis, Chuck Dressen and Paul Richards, but after that neither team could do a thing. The Giants got only three more hits and Boston one.

Cantwell's 20th victory was opposed to nine defeats while Parmelee's loss was his eighth after 13 victories.

Today's triumph gave the Braves the series, 2-1, and the season's series, 12-10.

FORMER CHAMP STATE FOX HUNT IS IMPRESSIVE

Paul Berlenbach, former light heavyweight champion of the world, who meets Carl Knowles, well-known Georgia fighter, Thursday night at the city auditorium, has shown much of the same punching power of old in workouts here with sparring partners. Both he and Knowles have been working out daily in the Georgia Power Company gymnasium.

Berlenbach has been working with Frankie Adams and Roy Dunn, both of whom have renounced about the stinging in "Joan Paul" punches. Carl Knowles will furnish plenty of competition for the former champion. He, like Berlenbach, is a fighter with a lot of dynamite in each hand. Both he and Knowles have been working out daily in the Georgia Power Company gymnasium.

The semi-windup of the evening will bring together Frankie Adams, local favorite, and Dynamite Dunn, of West Point. Fans have been clamoring for this fray and this should prove to be a real battle.

Another bout that will attract much interest is Young Keichel and Battling Maddox. This bout was added to the card to substitute the position of Simon Neumeyer, who was unable to make the trip inasmuch as he is having trouble with the immigration authorities and was unable to leave New York at this time. Maddox and Keichel will furnish plenty of fireworks for the fans.

Ted Long will meet Jay Dickerson in a four-rounder which will prove worth while seeing.

Five three-round amateur bouts will precede the professional card.

Tickets are on sale at the Berlenbach-Knowles fight headquarters at Peachtree near Walton, Five Points Cigar Store and Candler Building Pharmacy.

METTRICK READY FOR FLYBACK ROLE SATURDAY

B. Clark's Kicking Cheers Robby; Anderson Loses Teeth.

Georgia's annual women's golf championship became very nearly an all-Atlanta tournament when the first round of match play had been completed Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Roy Burns, of Columbus, and Miss Martha Daniel, of Rome, were the two players out of town who survived the first day's play. Mrs. Burns defeated Miss Lowmyer Wilburn, of Atlanta, and Miss Daniel eliminated Mrs. Floyd Alford, of Albany.

EASY WINNER.

Miss Margaret Maddox, the defending champion, moved easily into the second round, winning 8 and 6 from Mrs. O. W. Miller.

It becomes apparent that Miss Maddox, who has won the past two championships and who qualified and went to the second round in the national tournament, is far ahead of the field in Georgia.

There was only one close game in the championship division in Tuesday's play. Mrs. O. B. Keeler was defeated by Mrs. Charles Black Jr. The match was close all the way with neither player having an advantage at any time of more than one up.

MRS. BLACK WAS UP.

Mrs. Black was one up at the turn, winning the ninth to have that advantage. The two players halved very few holes but played decisively all the way to the end.

Miss Dorothy Kirby, the 13-year-old entry from Atlanta, won her match, 6-5, beating Mrs. John Stewart.

Indications are that Miss Kirby has a good chance to go to the finals Friday. The young lady and her mother, Mrs. Kirby, have been in for a month and doctors permitted her to play simply because she would be out in the sun. Her game is strong, however, and if she does not tire under the long competitive strain she may reach the finals.

Miss Kirby and Mrs. Mike King were second to Miss Maddox, the defending champion, in the first round.

Tuesday's results:

Margaret Maddox beat Mrs. O. W. Miller, 8 and 6.

Mrs. Roy Burns beat Mrs. Llewellyn Wilburn, 8-2.

Mrs. Frank Reade beat Mrs. M. T. Edwards, 8-2.

Mrs. Jimmie Burns beat Mrs. W. W. Barr, 4-3.

Stanley J. C. Wright beat Mrs. Harry Young, 5-4.

Joe Cronin Is Silent About Opening Pitcher

Crowder or Weaver Rumored As Likely Choices of Senators' "Kid" Manager.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Joseph Edward Cronin, the youngest manager of the Washington Senators, has decided to pull a little master-minding as to just which one of his big-four pitchers will be thrown against the Giants next Tuesday at the Polo Grounds.

If Cronin himself knows who will start, and it appears that he will, he is keeping the choice a secret. Those close to the kid manager say definitely that his announcement will be withheld until just before game time.

Most of the grandstand managers have picked "General" Alvin Crowder, the husky right-hander who is the workhorse of the Nationals' pitching staff this season.

WEAVER RUMORED.

But the whisper today from several of the capital's baseball wise men was that "it may be Monte Weaver." The former mathematics professor has been stepping along fast after recovering from a bad mid-season slump.

Here's how Cronin himself is answering the dozens or so questions a day that are shot at him:

"I've told all four of them to be ready. And I believe me, they will. I'll pick the one that looks best next Tuesday, and after that we will work a rotation just as we have all season."

So it may be Crowder or Weaver, and it may be Walter Stewart or Earl Whitehill, the Senators' two left-handers.

CATCH.

There is a catch in Cronin's statement that they will be worked in "rotation." The Senators' leader has changed his rotation every week or two, and sometimes often. Mostly he has operated under a system of picking the man who was most fit at the time.

As to a first choice, it cannot be entirely discounted that it was Stewart who sat quietly in the stands at the Polo Grounds last Sunday and watched the Giants play a double-header with the Boston Braves. That is, Stewart sat quietly until some of the New Yorkers discovered who he was.

Luke Sewell, the Nationals' first string pitcher, accompanied Stewart on the scouting expedition. They presented their case to Cronin, and the loudspeakers at the Polo Grounds might have told the names of "Stewart and Sewell" next Tuesday.

Cronin gave all of his big four a strenuous workout today with the National league ball. He contends, and all four have nodded in agreement, that the raised seams on the older league's ball may improve the "stuff" that at least two of them will serve up to the Giants at the first two New York battles.

Because of a heavy rain this morning, no infield practice was held today, but Crowder, Weaver, Stewart and Whitehill, the outfielders in "shagging" fly balls before working out in the bull pen.

Madman Shoots Self After Running Amuck

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 26.—(AP)—A mad gunman ran amuck here tonight and within an hour shot and killed three people and wounded a fourth. The gunman, who was a taxi driver, was shot and killed by police. The three victims were a woman and two children. The fourth victim, a man, was wounded and is in the hospital.

1,500 Rioting Convicts Quelled by Police

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—(UP)—Nearly 1,500 convicts, the entire population of Eastern penitentiaries, were kept under an hour tonight and a demonstration against purported brutality by their jailors. Screaming curses and sending up flares, the convicts heard more than a block from the prison walls, they set fire to their mattresses and jammed them through the cell bars into the corridors. The riot was quelled by police who fired tear gas and used clubs. The riot was reported under control after more than 250 city police and several fire companies were called to the scene.

LEGAL STERILIZATION URGED BY DR. OWENSBY

Legal sterilization of the feeble-minded and others in the charge of the state who are incapable of producing healthy children was discussed before the House of the United States today Tuesday night by Dr. Newdigate Owensby, of Atlanta. Dr. Owensby outlined the provisions of a bill which is in effect in 27 of the states and said that a bill which would provide such a practice in Georgia probably would be introduced at the next session of the legislature. A large attendance heard his address and asked numerous questions indicating sympathy with the purposes of organized groups that are working for universal application of the method.

NO PROGRESS IS MADE ON GEORGIA MILK PACT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(AP)—Georgia's milk delegation reported today that no definite progress had been made toward administration approval of the state's milk marketing agreement. The delegates continued, however, to hold their determined stand for retention of clauses in the agreement which would provide for general application of licensing and a minimum retail price for milk.

The administration, on the other hand, declined to veer from its new policy for milk agreements which stipulates that only signatories to agreements will be licensed over a 30-day trial period, and only maximum prices to consumers will be fixed.

Fred T. Brerly, assistant Georgia commissioner of agriculture and leader of the delegation, returned to Atlanta on account of other pressing business. Milk producers and distributors in the party said they would continue to press their demand for approval of the Georgia agreement.

ROOT DEVELOPS YOUNG ELEVEN OUT OF BLUE

Yale Offense To Lean Toward Notre Dame. Lassiter Inspiring.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 26.—(AP)—Under the elms of ancient Yale Reginald D. Root, a big, sand-haired youngster, has taken tradition where it flapped and bulged most and has shaken from it an Eli football team as young and fresh as he is to the "big three" coaching line.

A smashing tackle here only a half dozen years ago, Root, carefully addressed here as "Reg" and never "Reggie," has hurled himself upon the job of succeeding system Dr. Marvin Stevens with a seat that may carry ordinary material to unexpected heights, just as it may swamp the Blue when cold experience and the steadiness of a veteran count so heavily in November.

BRIGHTER HUE.

But at the moment Root has added a brighter hue to every phase of the Yale situation. Already he has decided that the traditional Yale offense will lean this fall toward the Notre Dame style of play as taught by two assistants of his own type, Adam Walsh, who handles the line, and Bucky O'Connor, who teaches the backs. He has an inspiring captain in Bob Lassiter, the galloping half-back from the Carolinas.

As to the material, 10 lettermen are back and 14 have gone from the squad that wallowed Harvard 19-0 and tied Princeton 7-7 last fall.

The chief problem is on the wings where a couple of sophomores probably will be developed by Charles Comerford, builder perhaps of more Yale backs than any other coach. Bob Train has been shifted to end from guard, Kim Whitehead and Bernie Rankin from the backfield. Tommy Wilson was a freshman star last fall. Walter Kinnel, Johnny Overall and Cy Tyson had experience last year.

LASSITER, FULLER.

The Eli backfield, with interference increased through adoption of the Notre Dame system of man for man blocking, will be built around Lassiter and Stan (Red) Fuller, a transfer from Ohio Northern, a big hard-hitting fellow who played no football there and spent last year working out his ineptitude with the scrubs. Andy Callan, Earl Nikkel, the basketball star, and Del Martin at quarter, are sturdy veterans with promising sophomores in Vic Despard, Dick Cummins, Johnny Mack and Tom Curtin. Veteran backs who graduated were Joe Crowley, Walter Levering, Charles Heim, Mac and Clem Williamson.

The line, aside from ends, is strong. Vic Malin and Joe Johnson are veteran centers. Hillman Holcomb and Ed Nichols are holdover guards while Webb Davis, last year's freshman captain, is a fine looking tackle, with John Killeen and Clara Curtin, both husky veterans; Allen Converse, a guard, and Captain John Wilbur, tackle, were lost by graduation.

The schedule: October 7, Maine; October 14, Washington; October 21, Brown; October 28, Army; November 4, Dartmouth; November 11, Georgia; November 25, Harvard; December 2, Princeton.

Lamson Is Sentenced To Die December 15

SAN JOSE, Cal., Sept. 26.—(AP)—The death sentence was pronounced today upon David A. Lamson, young Stanford University Publishing House representative convicted of wife murder, after he had professed innocence in a statement to the court.

Superior Judge R. R. Syer denied a last-minute defense motion for a new trial of the case growing out of the death of Allene Thorne Lamson, attractive Stanford U. W. C. A. secretary, who was shot last May 30. Lamson was asked to rise.

"Have you any legal cause or reason why judgment should not be pronounced?" asked Judge Syer. "I understand your honor," Lamson calmly, "that under the law and under this verdict you have no alternative but to pronounce the death sentence. I should like you and the people of this state to know that my conscience is clear before your judgment and before the judgment of God. I know in my heart that I have been a good husband. I loved Allene. I have done her no harm. I am as innocent of her death as you yourself."

That is all Judge Syer read the sentence—that Lamson be taken to San Quentin prison and there on December 15 be "hanged by the neck until dead, may God have mercy on your soul."

IN LATE TRADING

By BERNARD S. O'HARA.
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(P)—The curb market scrambled up to a little higher level in the early dealings today, but slipped from its perch in a mild selling flurry in the final hour. Trading was quiet throughout the session, sales approximating 192,000 shares compared with 182,000 for yesterday.

Early firmness was featured by a modest demand for alcohols and metals. Advances of major fractions to more than a point were later cancelled in Hiram Walker, Canadian Industrial Alcohol A. and Newmont. Distillers Corporation-Seagrams and New Jersey Zinc registered net closing losses of 1 and 2 points, respectively.

Utilities were irregular. Commonwealth Edison sagged 4 1-2 points while Consolidated Gas of Baltimore gained nearly 2. Electric Bond & Share yielded a small fraction. Petroleum shares were likewise subject to divergent opinions. Humble Oil was in slight favor while Gulf sold frankish that it suggests an attacking attitude rather than a defensive one. West's Double looks like a good gamble as he holds what seem like three sure tricks and several possibilities of another one.

The Opening lead was the Ace of hearts, after which West shifted to a club. This trick won with the Dummy's Ace of clubs. The Dealer paused to consider the situation. He could take the spade finesse immediately but this was almost certain to lose. West's unusual Opening of the Ace of hearts was the key to the in Contract Bridge as frequently as they say most plays are standardized and plenty have been laid down to allow a recognize a certain move, there are still times when a player can do which does not fall into any category. I am not sure that a player should be told that it is an example to shut off communication and it also seemed as though the King of clubs lay with East. If this were the case, a spade finesse would immediately be made and the declarer would allow him to lead a club over to his partner. Then a heart could be cruffed for the setting trick. Of course, that is the present only if West held three spades, but the Declarer saw no reason for not providing for the worst possible distribution. He had to lead the King of diamonds and discarded his losing club. Now no matter what West chose to lead he could not obtain more than one more trick with the King of trumps.

It is apparent that Declarer's safety play was very necessary. If he had led the trumps immediately the exact thing which he feared would have happened and he would have been defeated one trick.
